THE CITY BY THE SEA.

THE EXCURSION TO OLD POINT COMFORT.

A Splendid Bay, a Splendid Sail and a General Day of Enjoyment to special Dispatch to the News. NORFOLK, August 7 .-- My last disatch was sent just before embarking r the excursion down the river and the roads. As before stated the banquet was a splendid affair, and one that id honor to this city of former and present renown. There were many bjects of interest to be seen here, but of course, with such a concourse in the streets, and every one in a hurry, sightseeing was something that would have to be deferred to a future day. To be sure we had to take a look at the old church that supported the "steeple" with a cannon ball lodged in it, a memento of its earlier days. Cedar Grove cemetery with its avenues inclosed with rows of vaults-a lovely resting-place of the dead, enshrining the remains of many a gallant and gifted man connected with and prominent in the early history of the Republic.

After the banquet we embarked on the fine steamer Carolina, tendered by Colonel John M. Robinson, president of the line, which made a special trip from Baltimore yesterday for the purose of taking the guests down to Old int and the Capes. She left the Bosn wharf at 3:30 p. m. Several hun-ed also went down to Old Point on Jane Moseley, Lady of the Lake nd N. P. Banks.

Down the Elizabeth, leaving old Fort Norfolk behind us, and on past the Rip-Raps, with Sewell's Point over in e distance, we at length arrived at Old Point Comfort after a delightful trip, when the excursionists proceeded the Fort, where they were cordially eceived by General Getty and staff An exhibition of target practice was given for the entertainment of the visitors followed by dress parade of the garrison, all of which was highly apreciated. Sufficient time was given r an inspection of the famous fortress, the magnificent Hygeia hotel and other oints of interest, and about 8:30 o'clock e re embarked for a trip to the Capes. The sea breeze was gloriously refreshing after the extreme heat of the day, nd we returned to Norfolk delighted with what we had seen and enjoyed. ome of the party will return home toav, while others will remain several vs longer. .

I neglected yesterday to mention in list of speakers the names of Colo-Wharton Greene and Dossey Batle, Esq., the funny man that engineers he Tarboro Southerner. His speech everflowed with humor even if it was ort, and he didn't appear to have monopoly of jaw," either. The regular casts were responded to by Judge Louis Hilliard, General W. R. Cox, olonel S. D. Starke, Captain Frank hillips and Captain J. P. Leach. have already stated that the party will return home to-day, but I propose make a week of it. make a week of it.

Gold Coming to the United States. LONDON, August 7.—A financial arti-le published this morning states that withdrawal of gold from the Bank f England yesterday for the United states was a probable precursor of arger shipments in payment for quantitles of American produce arriving here and in France, and that the steady cline in rates of exchange has pointed to such a movement in bullion for some time past. It is understood that the Bank of England holds a large amount in American eagles. Still Restless. LONDON, August 7 .- A dispatch from Alexandria to the Reuters Telegraph Company says: Tewfik, the new Khedive of Egypt, received a telegram from the Sultan of Turkey dated 3d instant, demanding that permission be given to ex-Khedive Ismail Pasha to return to Egypt, and that he be allowed to reside at Alexandria or Damietta. The British and French consuls-generals advised the Khedive to defer his reply until they had consulted their respective governments on the subject. Cutlers from England.

NEW YORK. Aug. 6.—The arrival yesterday on the steamship Algeria from Liverpool of one hundred and thirty Sheffield cutlers under contract with . D. Frary, of Bridgeport, Connecti-ut, elicits considerable interest. The men say they did not leave Sheffield for want of work, but because they vere offered better wages and more nomes by the proprietor of the Frary Cutlery Works. It is expected that ve hundred more will come over in

The Maryland Democracy.

BALTIMORE, August 7 .- In the Democratic State Convention to-day Hon. William T. Hamilton, of Washington county, was unanimously nominated for Governor. C. J. M. Gwynn was renominated for Attorney-General, and Thomas J. Keating for Comptroller. There were no other nominations for these offices, and they were made without the formality of the call of roll.

What a Small Canal Bank Accomplished. MANCHESTER, August 7.—About midnight a serious break occurred in the upper canal, washing out the em-bankment thirty feet at the point where the Amory mills are being built. By this break about 10,000 operatives have been thrown out of employment. The cost of repairs will be about $500, and the mills will be in operation within twenty-four hours. The water found yent through the lower canal, thus preenting more serious damage.

A Rapid Subscription.

LONDON, August 7.—The Paris credit Foncier yesterday opened a subscription for one million obligations, at fifty francs each, on account of the City of Paris and sundry other French municpalities. It is understood that the ssue was covered by more than eight local papers. The Burgas struck on the rocks in Mariner's Cove, in a dense fog, July 14th. The captain engaged the help of some fishermen and was busy saving the cargo, when more than forty large boats appeared containing three or four hundred men, who board-ed the wrecked ship in spite of pro-tests, and began carrying off the cargo. They cleared the decks of wheat and every thing else removable, including every thing else removable, including four hundred sheep, and then left. Through the exertions of the local authorities three schooner loads of stolen property were recovered, and other small lots have since been bought up, but most of it is still in the hands of the marauders.

THE NATIONAL COTTON EX-CHANGE.

The Proceedings Creating much Interest Among the Dealers. NEW YORK, August 7.—The Convention of the National Cotton Exchange in this city Wednesday next is creating much interest among cotton dealers.

A committee of prominent dealers is now engaged in making arrangements for place and programme of meeting and there is every reason to expect the Convention to be very successful. It is expected that it will be attended by sixty or a hundred delegates, representing every important district interested in the production of cotton. Just what subjects will be discussed at the convention have not as met been decided. vention have not as yet been decided.

President Phelps, of New Orleans, now in Boston on business connected with the convention, will be on hand to preside next week.

The War Not Ended. London, August 7.—Advices from Capetown, to July 22d, received by way of Madeira, says several Zulu chiefs have submitted to Sir Garnet Wolseley at St. Paul's. It is reported that he assured them they will henceforth be governed and protected by the British Government. General Crealock and Colonels Wood and Butler will return to England. Another detachment of warriors have re-embarked for home A strong force is to advance on Ulunde immediately, General Wolseley having promised the chiefs that he would be there by August 10th. A detachment of friendly natives and irregulars, and probably also General Newdegate's column will advance simultaneously

LOOKING FOR HER LOST CHILD. The Child Seventy Years Old, the Mother Over One Hundred.

St. Louis Dispatch, 4th. Picking her way through the wagons and vehicles that crowded Chestnut and Main streets about 10 o'clock this morning, an old, wrinkled-faced wo-man, neatly dressed in a light colico dress and white apron, entered the Chestnut street police station, and ap-proaching the office railing, asked of ergeant Watkins, with a true Kentucky accent: "Have you seen my lost child, Captain ?" The evident fact that the woman was at least forty years beyond the usual age of the mothers of "lost children" somewhat puzzled Sergeant Watkins.

ment sufficiently to ask: . "What is your daughter's name?" "Becky Raney," answered the woman. "And her age?" "Seventy years," again she promptly answered

'What is your name?" "Jane Raney."

"How old are you?" "One hundred and seventeen." "And you are looking for your lost child, who is seventy years old?"
"Yes, Captain; you see Becky will go on sprees. Last Friday my gal went to the dispensary to get some medicine, and never come home sence. She will go on sprees."

go on sprees." Sergeant Watkins informed Jane that the officers had brought in no "young one" of that name and age. After finishing her business with the sergeant, the reporter approached her, and the following conversation ensued:

"How old did you say you were?"

"One hundred and seventeen. "And your lost daughter Becky?"

"Why, you do not look so old—you have all your teeth yet." "Yes, I've got a good many of 'em, but thar all rotten but two. I'm sure I'm one hundred and seventeen years old. I was born in Kentucky in—let me see; I forget the year—in 1762. I can tell you all about Washington's war, and I can tell you all about the earthquake at New Madrid, for I was there. I was married when I was seventeen and I've got three husbands there. I was married when I was seventeen, and I've got three husbands buried in Alton. When I came to St. Louis, a long while ago, thar were no steamboats, and thar were only log cabins here. I'm pretty poor, now. I would have starved to-day, if it wasn't for an old lady that lives near me on Second and Cedar. She gave me five cents this morning and I bought bread with it. I only had coffee and sugar myself. I guess Becky has gone on a spree. She works out and makes $3 a spree. She works out and makes $3 a month." Quite a Stretch of the Road Law.

BOYTON'S LONG SWIM.

TWENTY-NINE HOURS ON THE BILLOWS OF THE ATLANTIC. Without Compass or Provisions He Drifts and Paddles from Long Branch to Manhattan Beach.

New York Star, 4th.

"There's the sea serpent, cried a bather at Coney Island last evening, as a black object, seeming half man, half fish slowly floated by. The object was Captain Paul Boyton, who was on his way from Long Branch to Manhattan Beach at Coney Island, He had undertaken that perilous journey encased in his life-saving suit and carrying nothing in the way of nourishment. He expected to stay Saturday night at the light-ship, but was unable to do so. For twenty-nine hours he was in the water, without company of any sort, landing at Manhatan Beach last evening at 8:45 greatly exhausted. He went to the Manhattan Beach Hotel, and, after vigorous rubbing by his assistant, Captain Boyton sat down to supper. "You look exhausted, Captain; by our long stay in the water," said a reporter. "I am thoroughly exhausted," said the Captain, and I assure you that this is the worst time I ever had. Twenty-nine hours in the water without a morsel of food is pretty tough "Do you think this voyage more arduous than your trip across the Chan-"I do, much more severe. I tell you, I made a great mistake in undertaking this trip in the way I did. I expected to have a nice little picnic, but

I SOON FOUND OUT MY MISTAKE. Before I undertake another trip I shall study the tides somewhat. I left Long Branch, from the iron pier, about 3:30 p. m. Saturday. I kept along shore for about seven miles, and floating leisurely till sundown, when I found my-self abeam of the Highland light. I kept on my way, when about 10 o'clock was slowly heading for the Scotland Light Ship. A strong westerly wind sprang up just then, and the first thing knew I was being carried rapidly to the east, much against my will. I passed the outer light ship about 1 clock. I expected to make the ship and stop for awhile, but the ebb tide was flowing very strong indeed, and I was unable to reach the ship. I felt no fear for the result of my trip, for I supposed I was crossing a great commercial highway, where ships and steamers were continually crossing, and thought that I could obtain my bearings. So I floated along, carried by the ebb tide and the strong west wind till daylight came. The morning broke, but a heavy mist covered the ocean, and I was unable to locate myself. I looked about many times to ascertain where I was, but without avail. When the mist finally rose, I was unable to discover land anywhere, and for the first time I realized how extremely foolish I had been in not making preparation for my voyage. I used my paddle and worked very hard, and after awhile I made out the lightship. I got my bearings from this, and proceeded on my way, hoping to meet with no further obstacles. At 9:30 I saw the yacht Blue Rock. I SOUNDED MY HORN and the yacht came alongside. The captain informed me that I was only about eight miles from Manhattan Beach, Ethen began to work with a will, for I tell you I wanted some breakfast badly. I worked my way close under land, and then saw the whole beach of Coney Island.

Just as I was congratulating myself on being in time for dinner, the tide again changed, and I got another ebb, which sent me out to sea again. At 11 o'clock I saw the brig Faith, and the Captain told me that he could see Coney Island about nine or ten miles distant. A mist began to spread itself over the water again. I then resolved to strike land somewhere, for I was get-ting pretty well exhausted. The sea began to grow smooth. The monotony of the morning was broken some what

by the appearance of THREE SHOVEL-NOSED SHARKS. I worked lively, and gave them a wide berth, you may rest assured. I was getting on quite nicely when the tide again struck me, and I was carried past Rockaway Beach. I paddled away gamely, and was making good headway for the shore, when a squall struck me. The wind then changed to a westerly with a cross sea. This carried me out of my way again, but it soon calmed down and I made my way to the shore. I wholly underestimated the yoyage. I took no compass, and the only thing I carried with me was a small flask of whisky. When I got to shore I found my suit half full of wa-

"You have no idea of the loneliness through the night. There was a bright moon, and the ships would loom up like grim specters, and suddenly disappear like phantoms. I sounded my horn at times to dispel the lonely feel ing that took possession of me. One thing struck me as very strange; there

AN ECHO ON THE SEA.

When I sounded my horn it would echo and re-echo over the waters, just as if I were in some mountain pass. To add to the dismal character of the scene, I could hear the fog-horn sounding all night. It made a very dismal noise, I assure you." "Did you not meet many boats, who could have taken you up?"

"I saw many boats but they did not see me, although I sounded my horn.
I am but a very small object in the water when the waves run high. I saw the steamer Richmond running down on me, and I blew my horn pretty strongly. No attention was paid to me, and I began to think she would run me down, I blew my horn with all my might, and just before she reached me a head was seen lazily coming over the steamer's side. The man saw me and the next moment she changed her course just in time to avoid a collision. During the day I saw a little tugboat a short distance from me, and

I TRIED TO SIGNAL HER.

I saw the crew looking all about to see what made the noise, but I was so small and the sea was running so heavily that they did not see me. I saw the Columbia and tried to signal her, but she passed outside the buoy. During all these twenty-nine hours I have not had a wink of sleep."

"Will you try your luck again?"

"Oh, yes, I was not born to be drown-

"Oh, yes, I was not born to be drown-d," laughed the voyager. When Captain Boyton came ashore when captain Boyton came ashore his back and legs were cold as ice, the circulation having, seemingly, almost stopped. His knuckles were crowned with large blisters, caused by his constant use of the paddle, and his fingers were much swollen. His face, being exposed all day to the fierce sun, was badly burned. The suit he wore was the oldest one he owned, worn under half full of water. His friends who awaited him at Manhattan were apprised of his safety by the sound of his horn, which was heard on the beach when he was two miles out.

WINNING THE FIRST ROUND.

The People's Fight Against the Grasping C. C. and A. R. R.

Winnsboro (S. C.) News. The merchants have won the first round in the contest against the rail-road. The agent has been notified to ship cotton from Winnsbero' to Columbia for seventy-nine cents a bale, and to Charlotte for one dollar and sixty-two cents. These are precisely the rates for the distance on the basis of estimate by weight, and they are much less than Winnsboro' has heretofore enjoyed. As the charge is simply made by the bale, without specifying whether it is by weight or by measurement, we are at a loss to understand whether the road is gracefully yielding the po-sition and abandoning the cubic-foot device, or whether it is merely making a temporary concession to avoid a collision with the State railroad commissioner, as it was threatened with an injunction if it persisted in its course. We do not propose to crow over the matter, for the issue has not been decided in any way. Until the courts or the Legislature shall have declared cot-ton a weighty article the merchants will be in the power of the road, which can make its arbitrary charges in the midst of the cotton season, when the courts cannot intervene in time to prevent serious loss. The issue should be brought to a final determination for all time. Indeed, we have little doubt that the Legislature will be asked to inquire into the matter and grant relief from oppression. Unless the railroad pays up the damages demanded in the present suit by the merchant the case will be pushed forward vigorously. A charge of ten cents a bale, if based on measurement, is as bad as two dollars. The principle is wrong, and it should be resisted just as our forefathers re-sisted the imposition of a nominal stamp tax. South Carolina is now in a transition state. The question is whether the people or the corporations shall rule. The latter are making gradual encroachments in the hope that in time they will obtain the mastery they en-joy in other States. The Charlotte road, ortunately, made the mistake of step ping a little too hard on the people's toes, and thus awakening them to a sense of their danger. They should rise in their might and throttle the corporations at once. Railroads are useful servants, but most dangerous masters.

An Educated Canal-Boatman.

New York Tribune, 5th. A curious though sad story of a man who said that he was once a professor at Harvard, and who is now driving a team on the Erie canal, has recently come to light by the return of the man to some friends in this city with whom he lived for a few months last spring. Professer Brown, for that was the name he George H. Mitchell, of No. 206 East Thirteenth street, with whose family he took his meals. He was about thirtyfive years old, but looked much older To the few intimate friends whom he made while he was here he told a singular story of how he had been educated at Harvard, had become a educated at Harvard, had become a tutor and at his graduation an assist-ant protessor of chemistry in the college, and how some trouble with a lady had plunged him in despondency and had caused him to sever his con-nection with the college, and had alienated him from his family. He was regarded as a brilliant scholar. Leav-ing Massachusetts, he taught for a short time in a New-Jersey academy, and afterward came to New York. He was courteous, free from any bad habits, and remarkably intelligent. His face, however, was very careworn, and he acted as though some great trouble had affected his mind. After remainand affected his finded. After remaining with Dr. Mitchell four months, he suddenly disappeared, having at the time only a few dollars. He left a line telling his friends not to be uneasy about him. Several weeks ago he unexpectedly called to tell them that he expectedly called to tell them that he was happy because he was earning $15 a month and his board and lodging by driving a team on the canal. He re-mained only a few hours with his friends, by whom he was always greatly respected, and returned to his canal-boat for the season, as he said.

Attempt at Arson and Murder.

New Berne Nut Shell. 7th. Yesterday morning about 2 o'clock a colored woman discovered a man prowling about the yard of Captain Fulford, who resides on East Front street, and hallooed to the inmates of street, and hallooed to the inmates of the kitchen that the man was under their window. The kitchen is occupied by the daughter of Mingo Jones, a colored man who lives at the Coal Camps, four miles from this city, and Jones' wife was spending the night with her daughter. On being aroused from sleep by the loud hallooing of the colored woman above alluded to, the mother and daughter both rushed to mother and daughter both rushed to the window and discovered the prowler, who they believed from his form and who they believed from his form and movements to be Mingo Jones, hurriedly leaving the premises. An examination showed that the outside of the kitchen had been saturated with kerosene and it was conjectured that the intention of the prowler was to set fire to it. Jones' wife stated that her husband had repeatedly threatened to kill her and that she believed he wished to fire the kitchen for the purpose of burning her to death. We pose of burning her to death. We learn Jones has often figured before Magistrates Courts' in this city for beating his wife and that he is now under a peace bond for his good beha-vior toward her. A warrant was issued yesterday for his arrest and officer Gardner, who served the warrant, states that Jones evaded him. However, he succeeded in laying hands on his prisoner and brought him to this city where he was tried before his Honor Mayor Manly on the charge of attempt to commit arson. The evider was not sufficient to convict, but the trial was postponed to 5 o'clock this afternoon when other evidence will probably be adduced.

The First Cotton Boll.

New Berne Democrat, 7th. We were shown on yesterday morning at the office of Mr. Wm. Geo. Brinson the first matured, open cotton boll of the season. Mr. Brinson could not tell us from whose farm the boll came; he said while he was absent from his office, some one had placed it on his desk. We have seen no mention of a matured boll making its appearance elsewhere in the State, so we may score this as the first boll of the State from Craven. This is certainly very early for cotton in this section; at this rate the height of the cotton picking sea will be in September. This would make it so much the better for our farmers, as their crop would have no stains in it, but would all be clean and first-class.

A QUEER BURGLARY.

CHASING THE SCAMP INTO THE WOODS.

An Alarmed Girl Calls a Neighbor Before Awaking her Parents-Aroused by a Lamp.

Cleveland (Ohio) Leader, 2d.

Last Tuesday morning there was a lively time in the vicinity of Mr. E. Murfet's house, in the township of Orange. About 3 o'clock that morning Mr. Murfet was awakened by a woman's voice calling to him at his bedroom window to get up, that there was a burglar in her father's house. As soon as Mr. Murfet awoke he recognized the voice as that of Miss Thursday Gifford, a neighbor. Mr. Murfet arose, called two of his hired men, and the three, preceded by Miss Gifford, started for Mr. Gifford's house. Arriving at the dwelling, which is about six rods from Mr. Murfet's, one of the hired men went to one side of the house and the other to another side. Mr. Murfet took a position at the front door, through which Miss Gifford rushed to arouse her parents. One of the hired men and Mr. Murfet were armed. Soon after Miss Gifford entered Mr. Murfet saw a shadow on a tree near by, and then the light of a lamp. As he observed this he cried "halt" so loud that his brother-in-law, Mr. Arthur Abell, living on the third When Mr. Murfet made this demand the burglar was about twenty rods away and fired. Mr. Murfet also fired, but the thief was running very fast and the ball failed to take effect. The hired men rushed around the house near to where Mr. Murfet was, when the fellow fired a second time. The hired man having the weapon, sent five shots after him, one after the other. The burglar then escaped across the road, and, scaling the fence, went into Mr. Murfet's cornfield and disappeared in the woods near by. In getting over the fence he dropped his lantern, and left tracks which showed that he was bare-footed. Mr. Murfet ordered horses, and a thorough search was made for the thief, but without success. Miss Gif-ford says that she was awakened by the heat of the lamp on her face. She was sleeping in the second story of her parents' house, and how she arose and got to Mr. Murfet's house without the thief seeing or hearing her is more than is known. The young lady was in her night clothes, and says she knew nothing about going to Mr. Murfet's till she found herself at his bed-room window. After arousing him she ran back in great haste, crying and exclaiming that the thief would kill her parents. The fellow entered Mr. Gifford's house by opening a blind. The window was up. He got about $6 in money and a pe knife, and prepared a lunch, which he left behind.

STATE NEWS.

[Correspondence under this head is furnished by regular contributors to the News.]

FRANKLIN. Louisburg, April 5.—The weather is very hot and trade is dull. A large number of farmers and merchants left for Norfolk this morning. The county commissioners, with the magistrates of the county, met yesterday, to levy the tax for this year, and also to attend to the other duties incumbent on them. They levied, in addition to the State tax which is 32½ cents on the $100 worth of which is 323 cents on the $100 worth of property, 344 cents for county purposes, which is the maximum allowed by the constitution, the same under Schedule "B" and "C." W. P. Bridges, Esq., was elected Commissioner, in the place of Captain A. S. Parry, resigned of Captain A. S. Perry, resigned.
Raleigh District Conference, meets at Trinity, six miles from town, on Tharsday next; Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, D. D., will preside. The people of Trinity church neighborhood are noted for their hospitality and the delegates may feel safe in securing a warm welcome and be well taken care of. The crops since the rains are looking well and our farmers are in good spirits. Fruit crop not so abundant. Mel-

Louisburg has been and is still very healthy. A number of visitors have been summering here.

HARNETT. HARRINGTON, August 6.—The weather is warm and sultry, seasons are quite good, having had rain twelve days in succession, but not too wet. Cotton growing and blooming splendidly. A colored idiotic pauper at the poor-house has given birth to a pale child. Last Monday the magistrates levied the tax as follows: State 12; Penitentiary 06; Asylums 06; Schools 8½; Jury 10; county use 24½; total 66½; poll tax $2.00. They also established a new township out of portions of Barbecue and Stewart's Creek called Anderson's Creek Ordered an election derson's Creek. Ordered an election the first Thursday in September (4th) to see whether or not we would vote for a special tax to raise $20,000 in ten years to pay our indebtedness. When I wrote the election was to be held in August, I was misinformed. Forward corn will be low but will be tolerably well eared in most cases; late corn seems to have almost com-pletely recovered from the drought. It was Mr. and not Mrs. A. A. Bethea as you made me say last week that fattened the hogs on the chufas. Friend Archy hasn't found her yet.

OXFORD, August 6.—Granville still maintains her honored prestige, that of being the banner county in raising fine tobacco, independent farmers, and of being a progressive people, always paying their honest debts and in adding honor to the name of North Carolina. She loves liberty, but submits becomingly to the laws of the land becomingly to the laws of the land both State and Federal, and when the day comes (not far distant) when the good old State can assert her proud stand, the foremost in the galaxy of States, our people will be in the front ranks. Granville now rallies with the pure Democracy of her State. There pure Democracy of her State. There is no division among our people. For years they were under Radical rule, but they vow in their might and shook off the members which was destroying their vitals, so that now Granville, with her four hundred negro majority, stand side by side with her sister Democratic counties. And at the company of the resident of the will maintain here. ing elections she will maintain her supremacy and hold good the ground already gained.

The News grows in favor with our people and especially it is a favorice with our sturdy farmers. Its straightforward, manly course has gained for it the good will of the best men in the country and they will rally to its support. The Oxford & Henderson Railroad so long talked of is no longer a myth. The money has been raised and the con-tract has been awarded for its early A place inviting capital and good citizens. We have a "Bonanza" in our midst which our statistics will prove.

Winston, August 6.—The weather is intensely hot with frequent rains causing man and beast to suffer much, yet trade is lively and our merchants with coats off drive the work with a vim. The price of corn, which during the dry weather was rapidly going up, is now at a stand.

Quite a number of our citizens are laving their limbs in the cooling waves of the Atlantic; some are quaff-ing the life invigorating elixiers of the Piedmont; others are fanned by the soul-reviving breezes of the mountains, around Asheville, while others still are perambulating the lofty peaks of the Blue Ridge.

We regret to say that our genial townsman, Captain Vann, of the Win-ston Light Infantry, and partner of the book store of Vann & Burch, will go to New York city to enter business. Mr. Burch will continue the business here. GREENVILLE, August 5 .- After the showers it is clear again. All nature smiles. Business is dull and depressed. The magistrates of the county met yesterday and elected Judges of the Inferior Court for the two years next ensuing. The old justices asked to be released from serving again. Colonel E. C. Yellowly was appointed chairman. A better selection could not have been made. He is an able and experienced lawyer, and would be an honor to any bench. Swift Creek, August 7.—Your correspondent cannot say that he is not glad to be domiciled (if only for a few days) once more at "Meredith;" not on days) once more at "Mercenth;" not on account of any neglect on the part of mine estimable host (Perry), or his generous caterer of the Atlantic, at Beaufort, but simply on account of such repose as is required after a sojourn of nearly three weeks in ("Rockaway") an inhabitable part of friend Perry's house, where you neither sleep, drink or smoke, and which is so high up that no angel but "Sawyer" is ever called. I found the News growing more and more popular, and from visitors from all parts of the State I heard much praise of its conduct and conductor. Your correspondent had the pleasure of meeting many clever ladies and gentlemen, but, as a lady friend of mine there remarked, where all were friends it was better not to deal in personalities. I heard many ladies regretting the departure of our (Mr. Jordan) chief, who I suppose did not know he was married. Among the most persistent visitors to the light house were Messrs. Fuller and Snow, with ladies fair, whose names I noticed inserted three times in the books of that wondrous place in one week. Our friend, gallant Gatlin, allows no wall-flowers to occupy the ball-room. He is always on hand, which I am sorry to say many of our younger men are not. There were always missing links when our genial friends Col-onel Young and Dr. Blacknall came away. Really to see them walking with away. Really to see them walking with their deportment airs, you would have thought they were the proprietors, and strangers generally accosted one or the other when in need, and it always ended in a good cigar or a little "tansey." I am indebted to Mrs. Slayton nee Miss Julia Sanders for a good deal of read-ing matter and to her and other moth-Julia Sanders for a good dear of read-ing matter, and to her and other moth-erly ladies for much good advice. And just here (it may have been a home reflection) the sweetest faces I saw were those of several mothers. There were many pretty and amiable girls and a fair display of costumes. I think the Wilmington girls had the odds on beauty, as they were more numerous, the Newbernians on intelligence, the Raleigh girls on general grace and matter of dress, but they were all charming. There are many happy things that occurred there but they are for your private ear.

I learn that it is the intention of the Raleigh merchants to give a grand bar-becue at the Fair Grounds or elsewhere soen to their country customers of the surrounding counties. I think it is a good move. Good bye, I must go and look after my petato crop and billy goats. S. F. G.

Washington Evening Star, 6th. The following dispatch has been received by Adjutant General Townsend: The following dispatch transmitted by General Terry has just been re-ceived. Ithink Colonel Miles had betceived. Ithink Colonel Miles had better occupy his present camp until the 1st, and then be permitted to return to Fort Keogh by the routes he names, and I will so direct unless the General of the Army orders the retrograde movement to take place sooner. It would be well to hold fast until the good results claimed by Miles are fully consummated or assured.

P. H. SHERIDAN,

Lieut. General.

August 5TH.—Camp on Rocky Creek, July 28th, via Buford, August 4th.—Ruggles, assistant adjutant general, St. Paul:—Dispatch of July 21st containing the order of the President received, and I take pleasure in reporting that the wishes and directions of the authorities have been complied with a mountain tour. Professor Simonds the wishes and directions of the authorities have been complied with, and the results satisfactory. Major Walsh, of the mounted police, and Lone Dog, one of the principal men of the hostile camp, came to this command to-day. They state that the whole hostile camp is moving north and spreading out near some lakes about eighty miles north of the line. They assure me that those hostile Indians. assure me that those hostile Indians, Uncapapas, Minneconjous, Ogallallas, Sansacres, and a few other tribes, esti-mated at between 5,000 and 8,000, had decided to remain on Canadian soil; that they will make no hostile movement to this side; that they will stop raiding parties, will return all stolen property brought to their camp, and will not hunt the Buffalo or disturb the game on this reservation unless permitted, under the surveillance of our officials. In brief, that they are determined to remain in that territory, under the Canadian authorities. On these assurances from a representative man of the Indians and an official of the Canadian government, I should feel authorized in withdrawing my men. There can be no conflict now unless it follows an invasion. To prevent any cause of com-plaint from the other side, I would recommend that all of our Indians, and especially, the River Crows, be pro-hibited from crossing the line for this season. It would be well to send the River Crows' annuities to the Crow reservation instead of Belknap, and changed if they have been sent to Belknap. There are 30 lodges of Upper Assinnaboines who desire to join the Lower Assinnaboines but are prevented by a petty chief named Mokah. As the Lower Assinnaboines are in a prosperous condition, it would be better and more economical to move the Upand more economical to move the Upper Assinnaboines to that agency. I think it would be well to have small permanent supply camps not far from Fort Peck during the present autumn and winter. In retiring my command I would prefer to move the Keogh troops by way of Elk Prairie and head of Red Water; the Custer troops by way of the Mussel Shell, as I wish to examine the practicability of that route for wagons. My command will await orders near mouth of Little Rocky creek.

TIMES go by turns. It is not so very long ago since the commercial and industrial news in the daily papers was but a common story of failures and the closing of factories of various kinds. Now one can hardly open a paper without seeing an account of good crops, the resumption of work in woolen and iron · mills, the revival of industries and trades of nearly every class, and the prospects of good times once more.

THE Statesville Landmark says i has always been opposed to the Depart ment of Agriculture. Its officers are painfully numerous. The Commissioner has nothing to do but make speeches, answer letters and exhibit the museum." It says the Farmer and Mechanic has been badly treated on the part of the Department, and truthfully calls it an excellent paper. All this is "very pretty," but the editor of the Landmark should not call the Department a fraud. That is "very ugly."

THE contract for the immediate construction of the Oxford and Henderson Railroad has been awarded to Colonel W. H. Beasley, of Baltimore, who undertakes the work for $62,000, and hopes to complete the work by January, 1880. The Oxford Torchlight says it is "glad the long agony is at last over. The road is secured beyond a doubt. The result is thrice glorious." We join with it heartily in its closing sentence. "Three cheers for the Oxford and Henderson Railroad."

PROFESSOR RILEY, chief of the U.S. Entomological Commission, has returned from an extended trip through the Southern States, where he has been pursuing his labors in connection with the investigation into the cotton worm and other insects affecting the cotton plant. He visited many plantations in the Carolinas, south Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, but spent most of the time in the Brazos country, in south Texas, where he found the best field for observation and experiment. Professor Riley reports that important discoveries have been made which will reduce the cost of destroying the worm from one-half to one-fourth of what it has hitherto been. He experienced no serious difficulty in his travels from quarantine except in passing from Louisiana to Texas. As to the probable injury this season to the crop, he does not think that it will be great or general, but nevertheless serious in parts of south Georgia, Alabama and Texas, on plantations where no efforts are made to destroy the insect, especially if this month should prove cloudy and show-

A SINECURE. In its issue of the 7th instant the Farmer and Mechanic makes the following statement:

With the present number the legend declaring this paper to be the "Official Organ of the Department of Agricul-ture" is withdrawn from the caption of our editorial columns.

To those unacquainted with the state of affairs this may seem a singular announcement, especially as the paper was made official by a contract made by the proprietors with the Board of Agriculture; but the editors fully set forth the reasons for their action, stating that inasmuch "the Department "for a long time ignored the use of its "[their] pages, preferring to spend "large sums for printing useless cir-"culars and 'Reports,' which nobody "read or cared to read, we see no neces"sity for keeping up an empty title." When the Department was organized it was with the full presumption that it would prove beneficial not alone to the farming interests but to the general advancement of the State. Large sums were voted for its use; a full complement of offices were appointed and decidedly fair salaries were granted them, as of right should be, for able services to be rendered. For a while things went on swimmingly, it taking some time to place the system in practical working order. Then doubts arose as to the management, and it was made a triple-bodied concern with a nominal head having no real control of the trunks.

The Commissioner receives $2,000; Secretary Robinson receives $1.500; a total of $3,500 for the mere duty of answering letters of inquiry and keeping a very few accounts, which many com petent persons would gladly do for a compensation of $800 per annum. At the expiration of the third year $55,000 will have been expended, and with what benefit to the State? It may be that the good results are yet to be accomplished and that the large sums of money already furnished may not have been expended in vain. Time alone will tell.

CONDITION OF LABOR IN EUROPE. The following statement, contrasting labor in the Old world with that in the New, showing the effect of strikes and socialism, drinking and Communism, etc., has been furnished by the Department of State: "The reports from the United States consuls on the condition of labor in the several countries of Europe, which have several countries of Europe, which have been prepared for publication by the Department of State—their publication having been provided for on the last day of the recent destion of Congress will be ready for distribution in a few days. These reports cover all phases of the labor question in Europe, viz. Rates of wages, hours of labor, prices of the necessaries of life, habits of the working people and their manner of living, capital and labor, strikes, drink-ing; trades unions, socialism, communism, etc.

"The condition of the working people of Europe—their continued struggle with most adverse circumstances—as compared with the condition of the working of the United States, is well portrayed in these reports. The following startling facts are clearly proved by these reports: 1. That wages in the United States are double those of Bel-gium, Denmark, France and England, three times those of Germany, Italy and four times those of the Netherlands. 2. That the prices of the necessaries of life are lower in the United States than in Europe and that the la-borer in the United States, were he sat-isfied with the scanty and miserable fare upon which the European laborer must live, can purchase like food for less money than it can be purchased in Europe. 3. That the French working people, with far less wages, are happier than the working people of Great Britain, who receive the highest wages in Europe on account of the steadiness Europe, on account of the steadiness and economical habits of the former, and the strikes, drinking habits and consequent recklessness of the latter. 4. That more misery resuls from strikes, drinking, socialism and communism in England and in Germany than from all other causes combined—hard times "As Congress only provided for the publication of 15,000 copies of these reports (8,000 for the house, 4,000 for the Senate and 3,000 for the Department of State)Senators and members of Congress will do well to get their allotted number for distribution among their constituents at this most opportune time of investigation into the depressed condition of labor in the United States. The reading of these reports will remind many of our naturalized workingmen (who are so fierce in denouncing the condition of affairs in the United States) of the hopeless condition of that labor from which they escaped by emigrating to this Republic, and open their eyes anew to the superior position of the workingmen of this country; it will show our native workingmen the difference be-tween labor disfranchised, impoverished, degraded and hopeless in Eu-rope, and labor free, independent, hon-orable and an equal sharer in political power in America. A careful reading of these reports will do more to solve and settle the labor problem in the intelligent judgment of the country than the frequentary investigations which have thus far been the only public inquiries undertaken by the government."

The Cental System in England,

The board of managers of the New York Produce Exchange have received a letter from the "National Association of British and Irish Millers" of London, in which assurances are given of their active co-operation to simplify the business relations between the two countries. The "cental" system is approved as the most simple method of selling flour and grain, but objection is made to the complication which will occur if multiples of the pound are to be allowed. It will be an important and convenient change when the millers of Europe and America adopt the cental system, and make barrels and bags of flour, meal and grain of uniform weight.

Let there be no mistake about this. The danger of the Republic lies in that direction—for in that direction is the demoralization of public sentiment, the debauchery of the public officials, the confusion and despair that end in anarchy. end in anarchy.

The Glover Report.

Philadel phia Times. The failure of Congress to print the report of Congressman Glover is equally discreditable to the leaders of both political parties. The organs of each side, of course, charge the failure to the duty of organs is to suppress all un-pleasant truth implicating their own side and to magnify all accusations made against their opponents, and it is but just to the organs to say that they perform their task with great fidelity. Every Republican organ has sup-pressed and ridiculed all of Glover's pressed and ridiculed all of Glover's report except so much of it as happens to implicate Democrats discreditably. That part of it finds ready access to the columns of such organs, and the report, as a whole, is pronounced by them so worthless that a Democratic House refused to print it. The Democratic or-gans give the widest publicity to the main accusations against Republicans found in the report, suppress all that reflects upon Democrats and charge the failure to print it upon the persist-ent opposition of the Republicans. As organs have ceased to be newspapers, the intelligent reader who desires to know the truth must look elsewhere than in the speeches of partisans in Congress or in the columns of party organs to find it. Congressman Glover is a Democrat who seems to regard stealing, whether committed by a Republican or a Democrat, and he is just the sort of an inves-tigator who is not in special favor with thick and thin party men in any organization. That he is a decided partisan is not disputed, and that he gave the benefit of all doubts in favor of his party and against the Republicans will be readily accepted; but that he systematically halted his investigation when he ran against a Democratic sore, is not the

An Income Tax.

Atlanta Dispatch. At the late session of Congress the sentiment of the Democratic party ap-peared to be strongly in favor of the imposition of a moderate income tax, and a corresponding abatement of oth-er taxes which bear heavily on classes poorly able to pay them. We regret poorly able to pay them. We regret that the party did not put itself more distinctly on record as the supporter of an income tax, and hope that this will be done when Congress meets again next winter.

It is unfortunately the fact that many hundred of millions of property in this country is left entirely untaxed and that it belongs to classes best able to pay taxes, while those less able to pay are severely taxed by both our internal revenue and customs systems. There is nothing to prevent this now exempted class from being reached by an income tax, and we trust that the Democratic party will reach them in this way. Many reasons in favor of the justice and policy of an income tax at this time might be adduced. We are glad to find so influential and widely-circulated a paper as the New York Herald taking the proper ground on this ques-tion. The Herald says that an income tax is simply the most effective, most direct, most just, most equitable and most Democratic means of raising a great revenue ever applied in the country. It does not tax existence, does not tax labor, does not tax the neces-saries of life, and does not impose upon any individual a burden that it is im-possible or even difficult to bear. It raises money "where money is." It spares the poor man and makes the rich man pay. If you want soldiers, go to the people; if you want money, go to the millionaires. That is sound sense on two great points of public policy, and the financial half of that rule is by the income tax. It goes to the filled millionaires, and it is a tax under which no millionaire can return himself as a pauper without perjury and without exposing himself to the scandal and shame of a suit for recovery of anpaid taxet. Such a tax as that. rightly understood by the Democrats all over the country, would hardly be odious in their eyes. As to the cry that every law we do not like is unconstitutional, these are the words of John Marshall: "Let the end be legitimate; let it be within the scope of the consti-"Let the end be legitimate; tution, and all means which are appropriate, which are plainly adapted to the end, which are not prohibited, but consistent with the letter and spirit of the constitution, are constitutional.

Lithia Water.

MECKLENBURG COUNTY, VIRGINIA.

THE GREAT TONIC AND ALTERATIVE WATERS OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT.

BUFFALO LITHIA SPRING NO. 3

The most Valuable and Powerful Tonic Waters of Virginia, and, with one exception, the most Valuable Tonic Water of the United States. most Valuable Tonic Water of the United States.

ANALYSIS of this Spring, made by Prof. Wm. P. Tonry, of the Maryland Institute, Baltimore, March 17, 1877: Results expressed in grains per infiperial gallon, shows it to contain 3,774 grains of the Carbonate of Iron, which is recognized by all medical men as incomparably the most potent and valuable form in which iron can be used as a Tonic, A comparison of this analysis with that of other charybeate waters of the American Continent shows that the Buffalo Lithia Spring No. 3 contains a larger percentage of CARBO. NATE OF IRON than any other Mineral Water in Virginia, and, with one exception, a larger percentage than any other Mineral Water in the United States. Between this water and chalybeate waters generally there is one important difference. Chalybeate waters, as a general rule, are ASTRINGENT. The water of Spring No. 3 is APERIENT—rendered so by the Carbonate of Potash.

With this powerful BLOOD TONIC, in conjunction with the iamous Buffalo Lithia Springs No. 2 (which contains a larger percentage of the Bi-carbonate of Lithia than any known Mineral Water,) one of the most powerful alterative waters of the world, and to which is attributed by many eminent medical men a peculiar power as "a Nerve Tonic," it would seem to be a self-evident proposition that these Springs offer inducements to those in search of health, found nowhere else upon the American Continent.

M. ROSENBAUM.

It all came about over a dish of ice-cream,—the dish that will eventually eream,—the dish that will eventually bankrupt ail the chivalrous young men in America. The young attorney, and the young lady who was wont to admire him so much, stepped into an ice-cream saloon on Woodward avenue, Tuesday evening, and seated themselves at one of the little tables which are always—no human being can tell why—provided with three chairs, one at the end opposite the wall and one at either side.

Now it so happened that, but ten minutes before, an elderly gentleman had occupied that same table, and, prehad occupied that same table, and, previous to eating his cream, had removed a new set of artificial teeth, which he had placed upon the chair at the end of the table, out of sight. The old gentleman forgot to take them with him, but, when the young lady pulled out the chair, and laid her mitts and parasol thereon, she was so engaged in listening to sweet accents that she failed to notice the teeth. The "chocolate and vanilla" was ordered, and was fast disappearing, when the young lawyer was horrified at the discovery on the chair. He flushed a bit, and looked around to see whether any of the other guests had noticed the teeth. Of course he was too well-bred to make his discovery known to the young lady, thinking that she had removed her teeth to enjoy the cream with greater zest; and, when the arose to go, he reached over the table, and without looking at the chair, handed the young lady her mitts and parasol. He then made a business of turning his back and talking to the waiter, in order to give the lady time to arrange the teeth in proper position; and the two were about leaving the place when he discovered that the teeth still lay upon

Here was a dilemma. The young lawyer was sure that the lady had only begun wearing false teeth, and was about to go away and leave behind a sixty dollar set. But how to call her attention to the matter was a problem. Finally he gently inquired if she had not forgotten something. The young lady thought not.
"Didn't you—didn't you leave one of your mits on the chair?" stammered the agitated young gentleman.

The lady pulled out the chair and disclosed the teeth. The truth dawned upon her. 'And you (boo-hoo) thought (oh-hoo) that-tha-that these te(hee)th were mine, you great big brute!" she cried. The walk home was pursued in silence, and the young man hasn't been invited to call again.

REWEDIES Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime by the Cuticura Remedies, are more wonderful than any methods or remedies known to the medical rofession.

Cuticura Resolvent, a powerful Blood Pu rifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus deglands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged. Cuticura, The Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growth which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors, speedily it removes them, leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter. Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen, I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good physicians, all of which did me no good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of Cuticura. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like Yours truly, Peaches were quite plentiful yes-terday and sold for $1.00 per bushel. -Bat hunting is becoming quite an absorbing feature with our sportsmen.

-The market was literally crowded with country produce on yesterday -Several students of Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., from Raleigh, returned to the city yesterday. —Mr. I. Œttinger has just re-turned from the Warm Springs, and reports favorably of our Western watering place.

-The discovery of a mineral spring in Wayne county near Goldsboro is pronounced athing that is to become of noted celebrity.

—The new residences of W. H. Dodd, Esq., and T. H. Briggs, on Hillsboro street, are advancing rapidly. They will be handsome structures when completed. -The following gentlemen were elected on the school committee for Wake county: viz., W. S. Primrose, Needham Broughton and Mills H -Mrs. Moon closed her revival meetings at Mount Pleasant, Chatham county, yesterday, and will leave to-day for Alamance county to attend a Quaker meeting. -Master Frank, the eldest son of Mr. W. C, McMackin, suffered a fracture of his leg caused by a fall from a tree on Wednesday. He is a general favorite among the boys, who greatly sympathize with him. -Considerable complaint has been made as to the manner in which the market house is kept. They complain that bad eggs and decayed vegetable matter are thrown into the street and from which arises a most obnoxious -The race course at the Fair Grounds is being put in excellent order for the 14th instant, when the Raleigh Jockey Club Races will take place. Twenty-one convicts, under the direction of Mr. J. H. Bell, have been employed for this purpose during the past few days. -Mr. Louis Backes has lost his wife. She is subject to crazy spells and while in that condition always attempts to run away. This is the second time she has made her escape from her hus-band. The last heard from her was in the southern outskirt of the city. Any information of her whereabout will be gratefully received by her husband. --- A curious sight was seen by the reporter yesterday morning. A countryman's cart, unoccupied, backed up in front of the market, the owner being at a neighboring store purchasing goods. The reins of the double team were held by a small colt, about three months old. At first it had the appearance of an accident, but on inquiry it was ascertained that the colf had been trained by his owner to do

Wicked for Clergymen.

"I believe it to be all wrong and even wicked for clergymen or other public men to be led into giving testimonial to quack doctors or vile stuffs called medicines, but when a really meritorious article made of valuable remedies known to all, that all physicians use and trust in daily, we should freely commend it. I therefore encorruny and heartily commend Hop Bitters for the good they have done me and my friends, firmly believing they have no equal for fami.y use. I will not be without them.'

pear walvable medicine, Vegetine, has done in my family. I wish to express my thanks by informing you of the wanderful cure of my son; also, to let you know that Vegetine is the best medicine I ever saw for Chills, Shakes, Fever and Ague. My son was sick with mendes in 1873, which left him with Hip-joint disease. My son suffered a great deal of pain, all of the time; the pain was so great he did nothing but cry. The doctors did nothelp him a particle, he could not anove without crutches. I reed your advertisement in the "Louisville Courier-Journal," that Vegetine was a great Blood Purifier and Blood Food. I tried one bottle, which was a great benefit. He kept on with the medicine, gradually gaining. He has taken eighteen bottles in all, and he is completely restored to health, walks without crutches or cane. He is twenty years of age. I have a younger son, fifteen years of age. I have a younger son, fifteen years of age. I have a younger son, fifteen years of age. I have a younger son, fifteen years of age. I have a younger son, fifteen years of age. LYNCHBURG, Va., May 12, 1879.-WM BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me.
The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 30th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon Lv. Goldsboro. 10,10 a m 6,20 pm Ar.
